Lee Adams — President

After two field trips in April with the Geological Society of San Antonio, one to the Tessman Ranch and the second to the serpentine quarry on Willow City Loop, Judy and I have about a quart of small tumble size petrified wood from the Tessman Ranch and 3 buckets of serpentine. I am working to help organize future field trips for our club.

Tip of the Month:

Bicarbonate of Soda is a most useful aid in outings.

1. It takes the itch out of bites and stings.
2. It soothes the irritation of poison ivy, oak and nettles.
3. It relieves sunburn and windburn and is effective on burns.
4. It sweetens stomachs and ice chests.
5. It removes odors such as garlic, onion, and fish.
6. It will loosen bug spatters from windshields.
7. It will help snuff out campfires.

On the lighter side:

For rock hounds there is a fine line between “hobby” and “mental illness.”

In Alaska, tourists are warned to wear tiny bells on their clothing when hiking in bear country. The bells warn away most bears. Tourists are also cautioned to watch the ground for bear droppings so they may be aware of grizzly bears. One can tell grizzly droppings by the tiny bells in it.

I hope you all have a good month.

Fredericksburg Rockhounds 50th Anniversary

The hobby of rock hounding is so multi-faceted it has the interest of a wide span of people. As part of the Fredericksburg Rockhounds Club’s 50th Anniversary, we are writing a series of biographies for some long time (not old) members. It is our hope you will see the diversity of people that are interested in rock hounding.

This month we feature Dan & Mary Jean Moreno \(#articleb\) and John & Jane Crone \(#articlec\) as well as a short correction for Chester Hohmann which can be found in the Errata \(#snippetg\) section.

Dan & Mary Jean Moreno

– A Biography –

Some people are born naturalists and Dan Moreno is one of these. While other children were playing games, Dan was in the back yard turning over rocks and searching for interesting insects and plants. While in his teens, he enjoyed grafting plants.

Dan's parents were both Mexican citizens. Originally from Mexico City, Dan's father served as a public school teacher near the Mexican/US border, later working as a bookkeeper for the PEMEX Mexican Oil Company and eventually settling in Cleveland, Ohio, where he worked for Union Carbide (EverReady Batteries). He was proud of the fact that he once saw Pancho Villa, the famous Mexican revolutionary leader. Dan's mother did not work outside of the home.

Dan and his sister were born and raised in Cleveland. Each year the Moreno family would take an extended vacation driving to Mexico to visit relatives. While passing through Austin, Dan's parents were especially impressed with the Texas Hill Country and when they retired in the early 1960's, they bought a retirement home in Fredericksburg.

Dan was born in 1933. He attended elementary, junior high and senior high public schools in Cleveland. During the school year, he worked part time as a page at the Eastman Branch of the Cleveland Public Library and full time at the main library on weekends. Almost every Saturday, Dan would visit the Cleveland Zoo, where he became acquainted with the Curator of Reptiles, who became his mentor. After graduation from high school, Dan enrolled at Western Reserve University, earning a Bachelor's Degree with a major in Biology and a minor in Speech in 1956. He later undertook graduate coursework at that institution.

Dan worked his way through the university. He was employed at the Federal Reserve Bank—part time during the school year and full time during summers. When time permitted, he volunteered at the Cleveland Aquarium, then under construction. Eventually he was offered a paid position at the Aquarium and was able to resign from his position at the bank. He continued his visits to the Cleveland Zoo whenever possible.

After graduation from Western Reserve in 1956, Dan was drafted into the Army. He was first assigned to Fort Hood and then deployed to Frankfurt, Germany, as a Medic. During his final year of service, Dan auditioned and was accepted into the Third Armored Division Trains Band, where he played trumpet and cornet. He was mustered out of the Army in 1958. Soon after returning to the States, he was hospitalized with pneumonia and was bedridden for an extended period.

Once back on his feet, Dan resumed his duties at the Cleveland Aquarium, a satellite of the Cleveland Museum of Natural History. Dan was appointed Director of the Aquarium in 1964. The Aquarium was closed in the late 1985 because of financial difficulties. At that time Dan was transferred to the Cleveland Zoo, where he was designated the Supervisor of Rain Forest and Aquatics. A few years later, in the early 1990's, Dan was assigned the position of Conservation Biologist. While serving in that capacity, he recruited ichthyologists and fish breeders from around the world to attend a seminar in Cleveland on the breeding habits of the Australian lungfish. Dan continued coordinating international efforts with this project and eventually it was successful. Aquariums around the world now have Australian lungfish in their exhibits thanks to his efforts. Dan worked at the Cleveland Aquarium for 32 years and an additional 10 years at the Cleveland Metroparks Zoo; he retired in 1997.

Mary Jean Crain was born in Montour Falls, New York, in 1939. When she was six weeks old, her parents took her with them to resettle in Burma. Mary Jean's father was an Audiovisual Specialist with the American Baptist Missions. With the exception of one year when she attended classes at a public school in the United States, Mary Jean attended elementary and secondary school classes at the Woodstock School, which is an internationally famous boarding school situated in the Himalayan Mountains near Mussourie, India. She lived at the school for the entire school year, traveling home by train only for the break between school terms. Woodstock School is affiliated with the Baptist Church. Mary Jean remembers vividly the occasion when she saw Mahatma Gandhi, the famous Indian activist. Mary Jean's brother Warren served as a pastor and entered the Peace Corps after retirement; her other brother Alan was a sociology professor and is now deceased.

After graduation from high school, Mary Jean returned to the United States and enrolled at the prestigious Wooster College in Wooster, Ohio. She completed the requirements for a Bachelor's Degree in Child Psychology, attended summer classes to acquire a teaching certificate, and was then employed by the Painesville, Ohio, Public School System. She later earned a Master's Degree in Elementary Education at Kent State University.

Dan and Mary Jean met while she was working her way through college as a waitress in a Howard Johnson's Restaurant. They were married in 1961 and have two sons—Steven and Ronald.

Dan and Mary Jean have traveled extensively both in the United States and abroad. They have special memories of traveling around the world from east to west.

After Dan and Mary retired in 1997, they became "Winter Texans" and lived in Fredericksburg during the winter months in the house that had belonged to Dan's parents. They joined the Fredericksburg Rockhounds soon after they began this cycle.

Dan has never ceased being interested in natural history. He has an interesting collection of rocks and minerals and an extensive collection of cacti and other succulents. Dan was a member of the Kerr County Cactus Succulent Society until recently when that club disbanded. He and Mary Jean love animals and have had a variety of interesting and unusual pets. They now share their home with an African hingeback tortoise, a double yellow-headed Amazon parrot and two dogs.

A few years ago, Mary Jean was diagnosed with Parkinsonism with Lewy bodies, which exhibits symptoms similar to Parkinson's Disease but is a different disease. She now is a resident in the Knopp Healthcare and Rehabilitation Center at 1208 North Llano in Fredericksburg. She welcomes visitors.

John & Jane Crone

— A Biography —

John Crone attributes his exceptional diction to the fact that much of his life was spent within 90 miles of his home in Richmond, Virginia. John was born in 1940; his father worked at the Phillip Morris factory in Richmond and his mother was a homemaker. Soon after John's birth, his mother took him to the nearby Old Soldier's Home, where he was held and admired by a resident in his 90's—one of two remaining Confederate soldiers at the home. John was named after his f

Friends and acquaintances called him “Johnny” after the bellhop in the advertisement who shouts, “Call for Phillip Morris!” John has two sisters and three brothers—one of whom is deceased.

John began elementary school at Robert E. Lee Elementary. After a couple of years, he transferred to Dunbarton Elementary and he finished his elementary-school education at Glen Allen Elementary. He attended Hermitage High School. After high school graduation, John joined the Navy. After boot camp at Great Lakes, Illinois, John had a short leave and then returned to Great Lakes for a six-months course preparing him to be an FT Gunfire Electronic Technician. John spent four years in active duty—some of it on a destroyer—and two years in inactive duty. He then attended Virginia Commonwealth University and completed a two-year technical course leading to certification in Electrical/Electronic Engineering Technology. After completion of that program, John was hired by IBM and worked there for 31 years until his retirement in 1996. John was based in Richmond but was sent occasionally to work for brief periods of time in Dallas; Atlanta; Tucson; and Rochester, Minnesota. During the three decades he spent at IBM, John experienced changes from computers with vacuum tubes and data entry via mechanical devices such as card punches and sorters to mainframe computers with transistors and data entry via keyboards onto disks.

John married during the time he was in Richmond; he and his first wife have a daughter named Heather.

Jane Crone was born in 1943 (John claims that he robbed the cradle) in Galveston, Texas. Her mother was a nurse and her father was stationed overseas. After her father returned to the United States, the family moved to New Orleans and from there to Philadelphia and then to Buffalo, New York, as her father completed internship and residency requirements leading to a career as a doctor. Eventually, the family settled in Fort Worth, Texas, where Jane received her public school education. After graduation from high school, Jane attended the University of Washington for two years. She married a young man who was employed by the Bureau of Reclamation in the State of Washington. Jane and her first husband have one child who was born in Washington State—a daughter named Kimberly. The family moved to Virginia, where Jane’s husband accepted employment as a civilian employee of the Army Corps of Engineers.

Jane’s first husband became the Executive Director of the Virginia Association for Retarded Citizens. Jane helped youth and adults with special needs find jobs and adapt to their work environments. She also worked as a teaching assistant.

Jane and John met while both were working with Boy Scouts with special needs. They have been married for 27 years in August of 2018. Jane’s daughter lived in Houston and her mother in Fort Worth, so Jane and John had opportunities to travel around Texas while visiting relatives. They liked what they saw, so they moved to Fredericksburg in 1996—shortly after John retired. After a short stint in a rental house, they bought a home on Dinosaur Ranch Road west of Fredericksburg and then later had a home built in Fredericksburg.

John and Jane were members of the Richmond Gem and Mineral Society in Virginia. After moving to Fredericksburg, they joined the Fredericksburg Rockhounds in 1996, at a time when the club was still quite small. John has always enjoyed collecting rocks and Native American artifacts and Jane is an avid “birder.” They’ve enjoyed field trips where Jane spent her time looking up and John spent his time looking down—the perfect couple. Both Jane and John have been active members of the Fredericksburg Rockhounds. Jane has been in charge of refreshments and has also worked diligently on other committees, as well as the annual show. John has served as Show Chairman, Treasurer, and AudioVisual Technician. John also has made name tags for several years. Both Jane and John have been excellent members. They have outstanding reputations for stepping forth and taking on whatever needs to be done without fuss or commotion.

John is an amateur but skilled photographer. He has gone out of his way to preserve his family’s pictorial heritage. Because of his employment with IBM and specialized knowledge of computers, individuals and organizations in the community turn to him for help with their computer problems. Both John and Jane are active members of the Fredericksburg Native Society and Friends of the Fredericksburg Nature Center.

April 28th Field Trip

– House Ranch Rock Hunt –

Please read these instructions carefully so that you get to the meeting site.

Three Rivers is located at or near the junction of U.S. HWY 281 and TX HWY 72, about 91 miles south of San Antonio (1^{1/2} – 2 hrs).

At HWY 72, head west toward Choke Canyon Reservoir. LOOK FOR JEFF STREET ON THE LEFT. IT IS ADJACENT TO THE CHOKE CANYON LODGE.

Turn left onto Jeff Street and park along the roadside. Please do not take up spaces at the lodge parking area. Fees will be collected there, and then we will caravan to the ranch. WEATHER PERMITTING.

At the ranch, park on the hilltop, a couple of hundred yards from the plowed fields. DO NOT PARK DOWN AT THE BOTTOM OF THE HILL. IT IS A ONE-WAY ROAD AND EXITING AT DIFFERENT TIMES WILL BECOME REALLY DIFFICULT WHEN YOU TRY TO FIND THE OWNER OF THE CAR THAT HAS YOU BLOCKED IN. We will not help you. We will be hunting.

Arrive at the Jeff Street meeting area by 8:30am. The caravan will leave at 9:00am sharp.

The hunt will cost $25.00 per person plus a $1.00 club fee ($26.00 total).

Stay in the designated hunt area. You will recognize it by the 18-inch deep furrows over the entire area. Root plowing was done fairly recently and rocks are visible. If it has rained there recently (a week or so), all the better.

This is an active ranch and livestock may be loose. Leave them alone. Domesticated cattle are still wild, they have only learned to tolerate our presence. DO NOT GO NEAR A CALF—MOTHER IS WATCHING.

WE MUST VACATE THE RANCH BY 3:00 PM SHARP.

Bring your own water, snacks, and collecting gear. Wear sturdy shoes as ankles will be at risk in the furrows. We may help getting your buckets back up the hill. If you dig for a rock, FILL IN THE HOLE, or we may never be allowed back.

Should there be significant rain before Saturday, the hunt is likely to be cancelled. The field is too dangerous if wet.

If you have any questions, please contact Keith King or Sam Rodgers.

EXTRA: You may also find the meeting area if you drive south on TX HWY 16, and then turn east on TX HWY 72. The lodge will be on your right. I do not think that this route is faster. Good Hunting!

Fredericksburg Rockhounds Meeting Minutes

– April 2nd, 2018 –

Lee Adams opened the 7:00 PM meeting with the Pledge of Allegiance.

The Membership Committee:

Introduced and welcomed our 9 new members. The Membership Committee is in need of a volunteer.

Program Chairman Patti Felts presented:

A DVD with speaker John J. Renton PhD titled “Volcano Activity-Nature of Earth.” Patti announced that May’s program “All You Need to Know about Tumblers” will be presented by Mr. Keith King.

Old Business:

A motion was approved to accept March 2018 minutes as they appeared in the newsletter.

New Business:

Lee will be adding a Tip of the Month to the Newsletter. Lee gave an example of “How to Clean Jewelry” using Ivory and Calgon soap in hot water.

Miscellaneous:

Lee and Judy participated in a field trip sponsored by the Geological Society of San Antonio to the Tessman Ranch, located South of San Antonio. Lee reported that both he and Judy searched for 3 hours and the search resulted in about a quart of petrified wood. Most of the wood size was about that of a half dollar. Keith King also reported that that ranch no longer plows the ground because they are now more focused on oil.

Lee reported a sale April 7 in Rusk, TX. that will be selling large amounts of rock and equipment. The couple selling rock and equipment is Keith and Toni Harman. Virginia Adian said she believed they are the vendors at our show that crack geodes.

Sam Rodgers reported an Eagle Pass field trip through Karen Anderson. Sam contacted Karen and asked her to let the group know the field trip was Saturday, April 7th.

Karen Anderson spoke about the Alpine Rock Show that she and Andy attended over Easter weekend. She said there were members from the Fredericksburg Rockhounds that attended the Alpine show and that Sam Rodgers was a vendor show. Karen said that she and Andy went on a road cut, field trip in the Alpine area that weekend and Andy found all the good rocks. Maybe Andy is a rockhound after all.

Keith King reported that while in Alpine he attended two successful field trips.

Lee announced that Mike McBride Oil, Chevron in Kerrville, is selling cutting oil for $25.00 per gallon. Claude Townsend said he uses oil from the San Antonio Mineral Oil Company that sells for $12.00 per gallon.

Thanks to everyone that brought food. We had quite a feast.

Door Prizes:

Donor	Door Prizes
Lee Adams	Onyx, 2 West Texas Jasper stones
Richard Brzezicki	Ohio Flint
John Crone	Petrified Wood, Chalcedony, Larimbre Ranch, Alpine, TX; Chalcedony, Southern Utah
Frank Rowell & Patti Felts	Ammonite pair
Don & Betty Hall	Oro Grande Garnet, New Mexico
Robert Mitchell & Callie Weaver	Mahogany Obsidian and Arizona Petrified Wood from Jim Grays Rock Shop Holbrook, AZ 86025
Thomas Mitchell	Real Road Rock (formed by road crews)
Wayne Price	Nickeloan Magnegite or Citron Chysoprase

A motion was made and approved to adjourn the meeting at 8:45 P.M.

Minutes submitted by Judy Adams, Secretary

Errata

— Regarding the April 2018 Newsletter —

Privacy - Terms

1.) A correction to Chester Hohmann's biography.

Chester only played for Pat's Cubs, not the Fredericksburg Giants and Pats Cubs. Also the incident describing the gradual reduction of personnel at an Army base occurred at Fort Sill, Oklahoma, not in Korea, as stated.

2.) A missing announcement in the Events section regarding the monthly Fredericksburg Rockhounds meeting and identifying the intended program for that meeting.

April 2, 2018 — FREDERICKSBURG, TEXAS: This meeting will take place at 7pm on Monday, April 2nd, at the Golden Hub Senior Center located at 1009 N Lincoln, Fredericksburg, Texas.

By popular demand, our April program continues the explosive theme of volcanoes. The second of the series is "Phases of Volcanic Activity," also from The Nature of Earth: An Introduction to Geology with Professor John J. Renton. We should have a red hot good time!

May's Birthstone & Flowers

The May birthstone is the emerald; the flowers are the lily of the valley and the hawthorn plant.

Emerald

Lily of the Valley

Hawthorn Plant

Today, the emerald is associated with wisdom, patience, and growth though traditionally it signified love, fertility, and rebirth.

Emeralds are deep, rich green and many people associate the color with the vibrant technicolor of The Emerald City in the 1939 classic The Wizard of Oz.

Lilies of the Valley stand for humility, sweetness, and a return to happiness.

Hawthorn Plants are all about supreme happiness and hope.
